

The Time Stands Still Chronicles Series Word List

Mystery in Time

By: D A LEE

1. emanate: (p. vii) His skin turned a bronze color and a slight glow seemed to emanate from his entire body.
2. haphazardly (p. 4) As they went through the next doorway into a small, dark room, they saw many old suitcases stacked haphazardly against the wall.
3. shenanigans: (p. 14) “Don’t you dare scream,” said Mike. “I’ve had enough of your shenanigans for one day.”
4. gingerly: (p. 14) He gingerly put the brick he had removed back into its place in the wall.
5. snickerdoodles: (p.16) Mom had baked cookies earlier and both boys loved her snickerdoodles.
6. sarcasm: (p. 23) “You’ll never guess,” J.J. answered with lots of sarcasm in his voice.
7. contagious: (p. 28) Her ready smile and pleasant, positive attitude are contagious.
8. exuberant: (p. 30) “Good afternoon, class,” an exuberant Dr. M greeted them as they entered his classroom.
9. contingent: (p. 31) A special contingent from Washington, D.C., came and met privately with the school board.

10. entwined: (p. 47) “Everything in time is entwined together.”
11. tentatively: (p. 52) “How old was great-grandpa Jamison when he died?” J.J. asked tentatively.
12. nostalgia: (p. 53) He sure got a kick out of that,” Grams added with a bit of nostalgia in her voice.
13. rickety: (p. 53) “Oh, dear, no,” she replied. “I’m much too old and rickety for that.”
14. wickets: (p. 53) The boys got the wickets and pushed them into the ground and Grams got three glasses of lemonade set up on the front porch.
15. condiments: (p. 53) I have everything laid out on the counter in the kitchen except the meat, condiments, and the pop,” Grams informed them.
16. aghast: (p. 54) Again the boys’ faces were aghast at her comment. Did she know?
17. facilitate: (p. 60) Any changes you make or facilitate will be permanent and will remain unchangeable.
18. dormant: (p. 61) Next press the stone back into the strap, and it will become dormant.
19. devising: (p. 62) “I bet he really enjoyed devising this little scheme.”
20. scheme: (p. 62) “I bet he really enjoyed devising this little scheme.”

20. valiant: (p. 79) “Congratulation, Chosen One. You are selected for a most valiant quest.”
21. peaked: (p. 90) “Hi, Honey,” said her mom startling Henri. “Are you okay? You look a little peaked.”
22. eerily: (p. 110) She slowly rose and quietly made her way toward the front of the store. It was eerily quiet.
23. warily: (p. 123) Warily she approached him.
24. resilient: (p. 123) “However they are both quite resilient and they will bounce back from this quickly.”
25. diffuses: (p. 126) “Yes,” added Mike. “He seems to know just what to say and diffuses the situation with such ease.”